Lt. Darrell Biggs, 21, Plane Victim

Crash Occurs in Alaska; Expectant Wife at Base

Lt. Darrell Biggs, 21, Sterling, a 1950 graduate of Dixon high school, was killed Tuesday in the crash of a jet plane near Fairbanks, Alaska. Air force officials have confirmed.

Lt. Biggs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Biggs, 903 W. 19th St., Sterling, former Dixon residents. His widow is the former Rosemary Kreamer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kreamer, 208 E. Seventh St., Dixon. She was residing at Ladd Air Force base where her husband was stationed.

The air force said that Lt. Biggs' F-89 radar interceptor developed engine trouble and crashed near Fairbanks. His radar observer, Arthur Reed, no address listed, was also killed in the accident. The crash occurred about 12:50 p. m. Tuesday (Alaskan time).

Plan Services

Alaskan base sources said that military services will be held next Saturday for Lt. Biggs and the body will be shipped to the Truett funeral home, Sterling, for civilian rites. It is expected to arrive Wednesday or Thursday next week.

The airman's widow will remain at the Ladd base for the military rites and be flown home. Her arrival here is expected Saturday night.

Word of his death was phoned to local relatives here Tuesday afternoon by the base chaplain, and was later confirmed by air force base officials. Both men were killed instantly.

Lt. Biggs entered the air force in 1952, and trained at Greenville, Miss. He was graduated as an honor student among his class of 71 cadets. He received his wings in April, 1954, and was sent to Alaska in September of that year.

The crash victim was graduated from Dixon high school in 1950 and worked at the International Harvester plant in Rock Falls until he joined the air force.

Expecting Child

He was married August 22, 1954. The couple was expecting a child in August. His wife is a graduate of Dixon high school and the KSB hospital school of nursing. She had been in Alaska since November, 1954.

Survivors include his parents, a brother, Kenneth Clinton, Jr., and a sister, Ailene, Sterling.

Caretaker Hurt

A 53-year-old rural Dixon man, James W. Maupin, escaped serious injury shortly before 2 p. m. Tuesday when the tractor he was driving overturned on the Camp Reynoldswoods grounds.

Maupin apparently escaped with only a sprained ankle. The tractor upset while he was cutting weeds on the property, according to Deputy Sheriff Robert Burrs, Maupin is caretaker of the property.

Council Names Jones City Attorney, Hamill as Clerk

Grants Pay Raises to Employees

Gearhart Prepares Ordinance to Extend Daylight Time Here

The Dixon city council Tuesday night approved four appointments, hiked the wages of three city employees and placed on file Mayor William Slothower's 1955-56 annual appropriation ordinance totaling $495,450.

The council okayed the appointment of Irene Hamill as city clerk. She has been deputy city clerk for 25 years. She succeeds Wayne Smith. Olga Jensen, a former Dixon State School employee, was appointed deputy city clerk.

Atty. Edward Jones was appointed to succeed his brother, Gerald, as city attorney. Edward Jones is a former state's attorney of Lee county. Gerald Jones recently moved to California.

The council also appointed Mark Smith to succeed himself as city treasurer.

Three Raises
Three city employees will receive a raise in pay effective July 1. The city attorney will receive $2,400 instead of $2,250 annually; the city treasurer will receive a raise from $1,020 to $1,500; and the superintendent of Oakwood cemetery will make $3,000 instead of $2,640.

Mayor Slothower's appropriations for the current fiscal year shows general fund appropriations of $287,600 and special fund appropriations totaling $207,850.

General fund expenditures during the 1954-55 fiscal year totaled $281,175.53. The budget was $310,617.

Departmental appropriations for the current fiscal year include: Public affairs (Mayor's dept.), $63,350; finance, $17,330; public health and safety, $123,270; streets, $63,400; and public property, $20,250.

Departmental budgets and expenditures last year were: Public affairs, (B) $62,685, (E) $57,550 11; finance, (B) $17,562, (E) $16,899 89; public health and safety, (B) $140,845, (E) $136,998 13; streets, (B) $66,650, (E) $63,929 08; and public property, (B) $22,875, (E) $16,068 27.

Gets Cooperation

In other action:
—Paul Potts, commissioner of public health and safety, informed the council that the Chicago and Northwestern railroad has promised full cooperation with the Dixon police department by promising not to route trains on River Street during the 5 p. m. "rush hour"—the peak of traffic congestion.

—Orval Gearhart, Jr., commissioner of streets, announced that he was preparing an ordinance to

3 Runaway Youths Turn Up in Fulton

Three Dixon youths, missing from their homes since 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, apparently changed their minds about running away from home shortly before noon today and reportedly telephoned from Fulton to have their parents come after them.

The youths, Roydon "Butch" Krietzler, 13, son of Lee Krietzler, 922 Seventh St.; Arthur French, 9, son of Arthur French, 618 Nachusa Ave.; and David Kavadas, 13, son of Tom Kavadas, 901 1/2 Third St., were the object of a day and night search by local and state authorities.

Dixon police officers searched the town literally from "top to bottom," trampled through the dense brush and rubbish along the river bank from downtown to the sewage disposal plant and even made an announcement at the softball park Tuesday night.

In addition, numerous boat owners and riverbank property owners were checked for possible information. A state-wide alert was also given to the state police and local area authorities.

None of the youths' parents bothered to notify the authorities to call off the search today after the boys telephoned from Fulton.

According to the police department, one of the boys' parents replied, "Where did you find out?" when the officer attempted to check on a report that the youths had notified their parents of their whereabouts.

The youths reportedly were seen near Amboy late Tuesday by a party who heard about the search, the police said. The boys were supposed to have had a small brown dog with them and one of the youths was thought to be carrying a brown suitcase.

Teaching Now a Profession With Own Standards, Claim

DEKALB, Ill. (AP)—A woman educator declared today that "the day has passed when teaching was a stepping stone for persons ambitious to become doctors or lawyers, or an asylum for ladies-in-waiting."

"Teaching is now a profession capable of setting its own standards and commanding public respect," Elizabeth Anne Meek, president of the West Virginia Classroom Teachers Assn., said in a speech.

She addressed the DeKalb Conference on Teacher Education, "The Decade Ahead." The conference, at the Northern Illinois State College, is sponsored by the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards.

The speaker said there are 1,209 universities and colleges approved for teacher education. She added: "Are the courses they're teaching, the way they're teaching them, meeting the needs of teachers of tomorrow? We'll probably get about 30 per cent of this year's crop of 284,000 college graduates. How many of them have been so

THE FIRST WOMAN MAYOR of an Illinois town, Mrs. Grace Histed, poses rather solemnly with Dixon's own mayor, William Slothower, at right, following last night's council session. Mayor Histed presides over the town of New Boston, population 800. Standing behind the pair is Commissioner C. L. Ballard, Dixon, a nephew of Mayor Histed. The New Boston mayor commented that last night's session was "very businesslike."

Meet 'Her Honor' -- Mayor Histed New Boston, Ill., Woman First 'Lady' Mayor in State

By MONTE HELME
Telegraph Staff Writer

Mrs. Grace Histed, first woman mayor of an Illinois town with an aldermanic or commission form of government, said Tuesday night that she runs her native town of New Boston on a day-by-day basis rather than by a set policy.

Mayor Histed, an aunt of Dixon Finance Commissioner C. Lyle Ballard, was a honored guest at Tuesday night's city council session.

At the conclusion of the half-hour meeting, she told the councilmen that she was greatly impressed by the "business-like manner in which the meeting was conducted."

It's A Change
She added, "It certainly is a change from the way we conduct our meetings in New Boston."

New Boston is a small, 120-year-old river town on the Mississippi River. It is located in Mercer county approximately 32 miles southwest of Rock Island — as the crow flies. Its population is close to 800.

The principal occupation in New Boston is commercial fishing, according to "her honor." It is also quite widely known as a summer resort area because of a large bay nearby, she added.

Mrs. Histed reportedly surprised the citizens of her town by extending, rather than curtailing, the business hours of the two taverns in New Boston.

She extended the hours from 11 p. m. until midnight because she thought that the additional hour "might stimulate business" in that old river town.

And she should know the business conditions because she operates a dry goods store in this place of her birth.

Mrs. Histed was elected mayor on Labor Day by a two-to-one margin over the male incumbent. She explained that New Boston still follows its original charter for elections, etc.

She was elected for a one-year

CBS Reporter Bares Past Red Association, Espionage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Winston M. Burdett, now a news correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System, told senate investigators today he once was a Communist and had engaged in espionage abroad.

Burdett, testifying before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, said he joined the Communist party in August, 1937, while working on the Brooklyn Daily Eagle. He said he broke with the party in March, 1942.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), the subcommittee chairman, asked Burdett if he had ever engaged in espionage.

"I did, sir," replied Burdett.

"When?" asked Eastland.

"After I went abroad in February, 1940," Burdett replied, adding that he had asked to go to Finland on an assignment that would be "useful" to the Communist party. After reaching Europe, he said, he was contacted by the Communist underground.

At Own Expense

That was before he went with CBS. He said he went overseas as a roving correspondent for the Eagle, paying his own expenses.

Burdett said that while he was working as a reporter for the Eagle there was a Communist party unit there.

Burdett, a curly-haired handsome young man in his late 30s, told the subcommittee the Communist party "had a very great appeal to me. I was not a casual member. I was a very devoted member, young, enthusiastic and very earnest."

Burdett said he made a clean breast of his past to the FBI in 1951 and that he elected voluntarily to go before the internal Security subcommittee.

The witness told, before a dead-end still gathering, of trips to Finland, Sweden, Norway, Romania and Yugoslavia as well as Russia, and of being contacted from time to time by Red agents.

Knew of Affiliation

In New York, CBS said it has known of Burdett's former Communist affiliation since 1951. It said it believed his break with the party 13 years ago was complete and final, that "he has been a loyal and honest citizen ever since," and that it decided in 1951 to continue him in his staff position.

The network also produced a letter from Sen. Eastland saying that Burdett, in earlier, private testimony before the committee, had "rendered a real service."

Declaring Burdett should be commended for it, Eastland wrote: "I know that he has some tough times ahead of him, and I earnestly hope that Columbia will stand by him. I think it would be fine if Columbia should publicly commend him for his decision after he has testified in open session."

Eastland's letter was dated June 7, 1955.

The Dixon Evening Telegraph
Dixon, Illinois
Dear Sirs:

Add my approval with those who think that the flower beds have contributed to the beauty of Dixon. Here are a few sincere remarks I would like to make concerning the recent beautification of the north bank of our Rock River along Boyd Street and Lincoln Statue Drive. The flower beds and the banks along the river are beautiful. With all due credit to the out-of-town landscape consultants I feel that the flower beds have considerably improved the beauty of the river bank. The Howell monument surroundings have been vastly improved by the trimming of shrubbery.

Many people enjoy these flower beds each week. The river is enjoyed by people going to and from work, relaxing on the park benches and banks of the river, walking along the river, boating, and children playing. Sightseers park along Boyd and Lincoln Statue Drive to enjoy the flowers, the river, and the many boats that cruise in the river.

It is indeed a credit to Dixon and Lee County to have public spirited people serve on the Dixon Park Board year after year and give hundreds of hours of their time to supervising our city parks. Results of these years of service has come to life in the well kept parks, the parks activities, and the beautiful flower beds.

Our Rock River is one of the diversions for free, happy American living. Let us continue keeping our parks beautiful so the countryside may enjoy all of these things together.

A Dixon Resident.

CITY EDITOR'S NOTE — The tone of your letter is very fine and sincere. We particularly like the reference to the public spiritedness contained in the second to last paragraph. All of us must remember that fact and appreciate that we are blessed with good people who work hard for something in which they believe—yes, even to the extent of arguing over the merits of certain methods of park upkeep and policies.

All of us who drive through the parks and use them for our enjoyment must realize that the park system here amounts to a tradition. As a "newcomer" of five or six years, it has become apparent to us that it has been a tradition carefully preserved.

The tradition doesn't preclude the planting of flower beds, mind you. It does, however, preclude radical changes in the park landscape without some consideration of the board's policies—and the budget. The park board's recent mild hassle, we think, stems from lack of liaison between the members. One must remember that the board is a conservative group; it adheres to tradition very strongly.

A recently-approved ordinance bringing all alterations to the park system under the scrutiny of the board as a whole, will go a long way to smooth out the present difficulties.

Meanwhile, all of us will continue to enjoy and shout the praises of our park system

Seven Youths Implicated in Vandalism

CHICAGO — Seven schoolboys, ranging from 8 to 12 years old, have been implicated in two vandalism raids on a South Side elementary school.

Detective William Price Jr. said the seven boys seized for causing $27,000 damage in the Doolittle school Sunday and Monday are also being questioned about other vandalism. All but one were pupils at Doolittle.

Policeman Sidney Smith surprised four of the boys Monday, catching them breaking windows when Smith and his teacher wife, Vivian, stopped at the school Monday afternoon to pick up some of her effects.

The four boys, the eldest 10, admitted breaking windows. Price said, and implicated three 12-year-old boys in the Sunday night raid when records were torn, scattered and set afire, and furniture and windows smashed.

Rural Ogle

Facts on the Ogle Dairy Program and Soil Tests

By GEORGE D. PERISHO
Ogle County Farm Adviser

OREGON — (Special) — This week will conclude our dairy promotion, "June is Dairy Month." However, dairymen should remember that we have a product to dispose of 365 days a year. Therefore, we should make every effort to promote increase consumption of milk and milk products the year round.

Just a few additional items regarding our dairy program. Occasionally, I hear comments that the butterfat content varies from one month to the next, and there are dairy farmers who do not realize that there are a number of things which may cause variation in milk fat test.

George D. Perisho

Milk produced the first few days after a cow freshens may test very high or very low. After the first week the test on freshened cows will usually level off. From then on it will generally go up until the end of the lactation. Your average test may be low if you are milking a large number of cows that have been fresh only a month or so. The test will then go up as these cows get farther along in the milk period. Butterfat tests are also lowest during the hot summer months and highest during the winter.

In addition to this seasonal variation, weather changes can make the test different from day to day. You can expect the test to be lower on a hot-humid day than on a cool day. Changes in feed or management practices may also effect fat percentage. Putting cows out to pasture usually lowers the fat test but increases milk flow. For that reason, the amount of butterfat you produce will stay up. High volume is more important to your dairy's business than high test. Another factor in lower butterfat test is incomplete milking. The strippings are much higher in fat than the rest of the milk. Leaving the high test milk may increase the test of the following milking.

Just a word of caution to herd owners. The brucellosis testing deadline of July 1st will soon be here. Farmers, who have not yet met the requirement to have their herds blood tested right away, should do so now. Testing now will not only let you meet the requirement for marketing Grade A milk, but you will be able to take advantage of the fact that both federal and state money is available for indemnity payments.

How well do Ogle County soils respond to soil treatment? This will be shown on several demonstration plots throughout the county this summer. Farmers are encouraged to keep an eye on the demonstration plots and to compare them with each other and with the crops on their own farms.

Three of our demonstration plots show the varying effect of the rate of a nitrogen application. Fifty pounds, 100 pounds and 150 pounds of nitrogen was the treatment applied on the following farms: Vernon Cassens, Polo; H. T. Thomas, Oregon; and Elmer Hayes, Kings.

Other plant food was tested at the August Lewis farm, Stillman Valley, and Leslie Ludwig, Esmond. On these two demonstration plots you will notice the response to rock phosphate, superphosphate, starter fertilizer and manure. Although the plots will show the results of fertilizers more plainly, they will also show the value of testing soil. In cases where fertilizer has been used, the amount has been determined by a soil test.

Don't overlook that fact when you study the plots. Without the test, we would be "shooting in the dark." In some cases, putting on more fertilizer than was needed and all that we put on over our needs would just lie there. It would not all be wasted, but it would take several years to get your money back. If we did not put on enough, our yields would be cut.

Now is the time you should be checking your corn fields for egg masses and if treatment is justified, make plans to spray for corn borer. If your corn is 25 inches tall or taller and averages 100 egg masses to 100 plants, treatment will be justified. Egg laying will go on for a moderate rate. However, these unhatched egg masses should be treated.

soon if you expect to control corn borer damage.

Plan to spray or dust 10 to 14 days after the first hatch of borers. Reasonably good control is obtained when the treatment is made as early as eight days after the first hatching. At a later time, borers will have burrowed into the stalks and treatment will be less effective.

The control of the early season borers is most important. DDT is the most effective material. It is easy to get and relatively inexpensive. In any form — dust, wettable powder or an emulsifiable solution — it should be applied at a rate to deliver 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pounds of actual DDT per acre. To put on in these amounts, it will take 25 to 30 pounds of five per cent dust, three pounds of 50 percent wettable powder or three quarts of 25 percent emulsifiable solution.

Post Office Design Okayed For Rock Island

WASHINGTON — The General Services Administration today announced the award of design contracts for a new post office and court house at Rock Island, Ill.

The project will be designed jointly, GSA said, by William Stuhler, Rock Island architect, and the Peoria architectural firm of J. Fletcher Lankton and John N. Zuegele and Associates. It did not disclose the fees involved.

The combination building, to cost a maximum of two million dollars, will be built as a lease-purchase project. Private capital will finance the cost and GSA will buy the building for the government with annual payments, including interest, over a long-term period.

The plans are expected to be finished in about six months.

ROTARY CLUB

The regular noonday luncheon and meeting of the Rotary club was held Tuesday. Members of the Polo fire department were guests and various members of the department spoke on fire-fighting equipment. This attractive three bedroom home can be yours under FHA terms. If you own your own lot, its value is usually sufficient to cover the down payment. With the Lu-Re-Co panel system all construction is done with full-size building materials in accordance with local building codes.

The people of the City of Dixon and its community are fortunate in the fact that permission has been granted by Federal authorities to organize a

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS and LOAN ASSOCIATION of DIXON

We believe our citizens will greatly appreciate such an institution. There will be a warm friendly service with enlarged possibilities for loans for prospective home owners.

Everyone in the community will be given an opportunity to subscribe for initial capital.

Subscriptions are not payable until charter is granted at which time payment will be placed in a savings account. Subscriptions can be for ten dollars or more.

All savings accounts will be insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation of Washington, D. C., a permanent agency of our government.

Investments of the Association are limited to conservative first Home Real Estate Mortgages and Government bonds. Guarantees have been made for the initial expenses until the Association is self-sustaining.

Dividends will be paid semi-annually in accord with the usual custom of Federal Savings and Loan Associations.

Withdrawals: 30 days' notice may be required. However, it is the intention to maintain cash balances that will permit payment promptly on demand.

This type of a Loan Association has always proven helpful in the community and the Dixon Association will be no exception to that rule.

The personnel of the Sponsors are all men of integrity and ability and the success of the organization seems assured.

UAW's Reuther Explains Guaranteed Pay Victory

Maneuverability, Timing Won Economic Concession

By SAUL PETT

DETROIT (AP)—How do you get a major economic concession, such as guaranteed layoff pay, from industry?

You keep maneuverability, says Walter Reuther.

And now that you have this, what's in the future?

Among other things, a 32-hour, 4-day week, with work a sort of hobby for the laboring man, who will be preoccupied with culture.

The perpetual twinkle in Reuther's blue-gray eyes can be interpreted in several ways.

You might see in it a sense of amusement. Or continuing optimism and self-confidence. Or a challenge to a battle of wits. Or a sense of triumphant mischief. As though he had just swallowed a Ford vice president for lunch and was getting ready to carve up General Motors' higher echelons for dinner.

Collective Bargaining Whatever the interpretation, the twinkle in the eyes of the president of the United Automobile Workers and the Congress of Industrial Organizations brightens in voltage as he discusses the art of collective bargaining, in which he is an acknowledged virtuoso.

You can almost hear him smack

his lips. Especially as he takes his text from recent negotiations in which the UAW-CIO pushed open an historic door and came out with the principle of guaranteed layoff pay, which assures a worker some income when, through no fault of his own, he isn't working. Reuther still refers to it as guaranteed annual wage, although what the union won from Ford and General Motors provides layoff pay for only part of a year.

Art of Timing

"The art of collective bargaining," said the red-haired labor leader, "is truly the art of timing and maneuvering."

"You have to know when to move. By maneuver. I don't mean compromise. I mean the ability always to leave yourself elbow room. At the point that you're rigidly locked, everyone is in trouble. In a sense, that's the problem of the cold war — too many rigid positions."

From global strategy, Reuther returned to the recent monumental poker game in the automobile industry.

"General Motors," he said, "had no maneuverability. They were so certain they wouldn't have to yield on the GAW thing in any form they hadn't done their homework."

So, after Ford gave us the principle of GAW, General Motors had to grab the Ford package in a hurry. They had no time to make any changes.

Back To Ford

"Now, go back to Ford. Ford offered us a stock purchase plan. We immediately saw it was the same as the one GM had offered and we rejected it. Yet, Ford thought they had us in a box. But within 30 minutes, I had already figured how we'd get out of that position."

"Ford's strategy was this. Their 'partnership in prosperity' package was so attractive, they thought it would divide the union membership from its leadership and everyone would forget about GAW. They took big ads in the papers to tell how wonderful their plan was. They intimated that if the union leaders told the members all the facts, the members would want it."

"Now, here is where young Henry Ford made his first mistake. He refused my invitation to address a union meeting and tell about his plan. His second mistake was to write me a letter suggesting that the Ford proposal be put to a secret vote.

Plan or Strike

At this point, Reuther said, Ford was trying to get a vote between a positive and a negative — between his plan or a strike. Ford, Reuther said, indicated it was ready to "take a six-year strike if its stock plan wasn't accepted."

"They thought they had us in this box," the union leader continued.

"But here is where we had to maneuver. We had to change the situation so that it would be a choice between two plans — theirs and ours — and not a choice between theirs and a strike."

"So I said to John Bugas (chief Ford negotiator), 'we're both interested in greater security for Ford workers, aren't we?' He said yes. I said, you're convinced the Ford workers prefer your plan, right? He said, yes I said, all right, let's put it to a vote, your plan or ours, in a secret vote conducted by the Honest Ballot Assn. or some other independent outfit."

Reuther's smile broadened, his twinkle brightened.

"Well," he said, "that paralyzed them for 30 hours. Not a word for 30 hours. Then they forgot about the vote. Then we got them back on the track and got our GAW principle."

WITH CHILDREN ICE CREAM IS AUTOMATIC

"AUTOMATIC"

You have probably heard this word used in connection with the auto industries. It means automatic assembly or production. Well, this word can now be used in home sewing. Necchi and Elma is the first to offer a fully automatic sewing machine for home use. (The word fully has been underlined because many sewing machine companies claim this but their claim is false and can be proved by us.)

Now that automation is available for the home sewer, many hard-earned dollars can be saved. This offers a new field of endeavor for the housewife. The most diversified wardrobe can now be accomplished at home whether the person be a beginner or an experienced sewer. Automation can overcome all present day handicaps in home sewing. This all adds up to savings of many hundreds of dollars plus an increase of wearing apparel for all the family.

Fazzi TV is now offering an automation home sewing course. Each person enrolling will be supplied with a brand new Necchi or Elma sewing machine that can be used in your home for the duration of the course. NO COST OR OBLIGATION TO BUY THE MACHINE. A limited amount of new machines are available for this course. We are forced to operate on a first come first serve basis.

Business Hits All-Time High

The 'Cautious' Are Just Flabbergasted

Editors Note: The business boom rolled on to new heights the first six months of 1935. In the following article, first of two, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, reviews the first half of the year and tells what developments brought about an historic high in prosperity.

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)— This is the year good times flabbergasted the cautious. The economy has hit its peaktime stride. Records topple as business becomes "almost too good to be true."

At midyear businessmen are revising their predictions—on the upside, just as they were a year ago. Then, the recession was proving to be much shallower than many had feared earlier. Now, the recovery is proving to be much more vigorous than most had dared to hope. Only the fear of crippling strikes or of future inflation clouds the prospects.

Stocks Behind
Last year the stock market out-paced business. This year industry forges ahead faster than stock prices. Securities have advanced since the first of the year, but often hesitantly, and with over all gains only about one half as steep as last year.

This has been a "big ticket" year, with the consumer unquestionably in control. He has been buying, and going into debt to buy, the hard wares of peace—autos in record numbers, TV sets, freezers, automatic washers. He continues to buy new homes and their furnishings at an astounding rate.

As a result, the makers of durable goods, and the suppliers of basic materials for them, have been having a field day.

Consumer buying has sent the gross national product—the dollar volume of all the goods and services the nation produces and sells—to an all time high of 370 billion dollars.

In the previous peak—365 billions in 1929—it was government spending for defense that furnished the spark.

And now, at midyear, business itself is about to goad the economy to a still faster pace with its plans for spending more for new plants and equipment.

Tomorrow—What lies ahead?

Chess Game in Yugoslavia

When Yugoslav officials ruled out any ties with the Soviet-sponsored Warsaw pacts covering defense and economic relations with Kremlin satellites, they perhaps spoke the decisive word on the Yugoslav-Russian conference.

First reactions to the communiqué issued from the parley between Marshal Tito and top Soviet leaders were that Tito had scored an important triumph. He had resisted the new Russian embrace and thereby maintained his independence.

Furthermore, he extracted from the Russians an agreement that internal matters, whether economic, political or ideological, are strictly the concern of individual countries. This amounted to putting Moscow's stamp of approval on what the world for seven years has called "Titoism," a brand of communism apart from the Soviet model.

Reservations were voiced in some quarters, however, when it was noted that Tito and the Russians managed to express agreement on certain foreign policy issues—a U.N. seat for Red China, recognition of the "legitimate rights" of Peiping to the island of Formosa, a German settlement within the framework of a broad European security system (minus America).

Then a key Communist spokesman disclosed that at Warsaw a new association was formed to coordinate all action of Communist lands from the East German border to the Pacific shore of the Red Chinese mainland.

Under this setup, the Soviet Union would in theory not be truly dominant but only "first among equals." In other words, the satellites would be accorded a measure of independence they have not so far known.

Some observers felt that Russia's acceptance of Tito's independence was related to this new approach, that it was in effect a demonstration to the satellites that Moscow means to allow more independence.

Some concluded, too, that Moscow never had any real hope of winning Tito back to its fold. They argued that the Russians merely sought to use his show of independence to their own advantage—as here suggested—and at the same time to compromise him in Western eyes.

But whatever hay Moscow may make with the satellites out of the Soviet visit to Belgrade, Yugoslavia is now busy making clear that it does not intend to be compromised in Western eyes if it can help it.

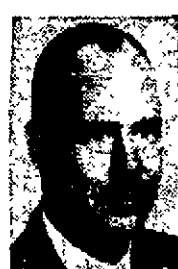

Yugoslavia's policy continues to be one of "non-alignment," government sources say. Tito will join neither Eastern or Western bloc. For all his concurrence with certain Soviet Communist foreign policy aims, he will stand aloof.

Whether the West will be entirely convinced this is a sincere posture remains to be seen. Certainly the free nations would like to believe it. But Moscow's admitted gains in exploiting some common ground with Tito may have damaged his position as an extra nucleus of defense against Russia.

Surgery for Hemorrhoids Improved in Recent Years

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Hemorrhoids, or piles, are enlarged veins which develop at or near the outlet of the rectum. The enlargements often occur in clusters. At first they appear and disappear. They may come on gradually or suddenly. A sudden strain, such as lifting some heavy object or a bad attack of constipation, can bring on the trouble.

Blockage of the flow of blood through the hemorrhoidal veins favors the development of piles. Many factors are involved: Long-continued severe coughing, childbirth, the muscular strain of heavy lifting, athletics, or constipation.

OFTEN THE FIRST symptom of piles is the presence of blood on the outside of the stool without pain. Other common early signs are itching or slight pain, especially on straining. Bleeding is usually slight at first, but can get so bad that it can cause anemia. Ulcers, or cracks in the skin or curcous membrane around the rectum often develop in a long-continued case. Such complications are often painful.

At times clots form inside the enlarged veins. These are likely to arise suddenly, together with severe pain. The clots are usually absorbed in a week or so though the clot can be sheeled out by surgery.

A LETTER from Miss E. M. not only asks for information concerning hemorrhoids but whether there is any cure besides surgery. In mild cases there is often considerable improvement without surgery and sometimes surgery is not necessary.

When it comes to cure, however, and I mean complete relief of severe or consistently bleeding hemorrhoids—there is almost certainly no method which is as satisfactory as surgery.

THE OPERATION can be performed with either local or general anesthesia. There has been much improvement in the methods of treatment and postoperative care in recent years. Usually convalescence is more rapid and the pain less severe following this operation than was common some years ago.

Piles can come back after operation. New ones develop unless the causes which originally produced them are also corrected. This does not necessarily mean that the operation was a failure.

I am frequently asked whether hemorrhoids lead to cancer. For unately, though hemorrhoids cause a lot of discomfort, they do not increase the chances of developing cancer.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)— Exclusively Yours: "Fanny" is a Broadway play delight but I can't say the same for its name-sake busting out on U.S. dolls in those skin-tight tendor pants.

And I even have a famous movie fashion designer's word for it that I'm not the only male in a state of nausea over the whole thing.

"Most women," Paramount's sharp Edith Head agreed with me, "look ridiculous in tendor pants. If they had rear-view mirrors, they'd drop dead. Tendorers are physically fit athletes. On them skin-tight pants look good. On American women they look awful."

Edith thinks only three movie stars have background appeal to wear them—French ballet queen Jeanne Marie, Audrey Hepburn and she said, "I have to say Roy Rogers."

"Roy," said Edith, "has the trimmest derrière in all of Hollywood."

THE DAVY CROCKETT craze—reverse English.

Wardrobe directions for the Sterling Hayden starrer, "Top Gun," an Edward Small production for United Artists, states very succinctly: "No coonskin hats."

Jess Barker's taking his first legal steps since the Susan Hayward sleeping pill headlines in his fight to stop her divorce. Briefs have been completed that will permit Jess' legal eagles to file in the court of appeals. The action can delay Susan's final freedom for a whole year or more.

Ann Miller is continuing her Catholic religious studies in Europe and is not too far away from conversion. Pals say she'll win Bill O'Connor as soon as the religious obstacles are cleared.

MGM has found a way to present the spicy theme in "Tea and Sympathy" that meets the approval of censors. Now studio heads are waiting to show Deborah Kerr the drastic changes and hoping she won't object. If she gives the okay, the movie edition will follow "The King and I" on her schedule.

THIS IS HOLLYWOOD. Mrs. Jones: Since 12-year-old Tommy Rettig's click on TV's Lassie's series, Republic studio is describing 11-year-old Richard Eyer as "a YOUNG Tommy Rettig." He plays Ann Sheridan's son in "Come Next Spring."

The Winnet: Movie newcomer Tommy Hall spotted all the professional pugs working in Audie Murphy's boxing film, "World in My Corner," and deadpanned: "Man, look at all the Marlon Brandos."

NOT IN THE SCRIPT: Comedienne Irene Ryan said that "MGM and I are having contract trouble. They won't give me one."

REASON WHY Diana Lynn and Andy McGlen, Vic's son, won't pose for the photographers is that Andy and Veda Ann Borg have not come to an understanding about divorce. Andy, who makes his bow as a director in "The Lock and the Key," and Veda, who's in "Guys and Dolls," have been legally separated for 13 months and still "have to work things out," according to Andy.

Selected Shots: Harry Canning heard a pint-size TV fan say: "Davy Crockett at the A La Mode."

Competition in Vegas for the Li-betate tribe: Ann Maria Alberg-hetti's entire family is in her new act. Nine-year-old brother Paul conducts the orchestra; 15-year-old Carla sings; Mama Victoria plays piano and Papa Daniele is featured as conductor and cellist. Too bad there isn't an older brother. He could lead in the casino.

The paltry quality of awards of "honor" which are conferred by American institutions of learning is well represented by a political salute by the University of Arizona to E. Palmer Hoyt, editor of the Denver Post. Hoyt received the Peter Zenger award for distinguished work in American journalism. Zenger was a New York editor who, at risk of death, criticized a British colonial governor in 1735. Hoyt's exploit was an abusive campaign against Senator Joe McCarthy.

In the course of this attack he lauded an underworld character with a criminal record formerly connected with the Bugsy Segal mob in Las Vegas. In a paper subsidized by the printers' union, this ex-convict vilified Senator McCarthy in terms which Hoyt himself did not dare to reprint. The Denver Post itself has a notorious reputation dating from the gaudy licentiousness of Tammam and Bonfils. Two lascivious logues of frontier journalism well recounted by Gene Fowler in his classical memoir entitled "Timber Line." Hoyt is a sales and circulation promoter. Unlike Zenger, he did not run the risk of a slap in the mouth.

This selection was made by Douglas D. Martin professor of the School of Journalism. Martin never went to any college, yet claims full power to commit the university in praise of any conduct which he deems laudable. Next year he very well might commit the university to an "award" to Hank Greenspun, the underworld genius of Las Vegas journalism who earned Hoyt's praise by wanton scurrility and indifference to the inhibitions of decency and truth. The university is supported by public taxes.

Martin's citation read that Hoyt had made "an outstanding contribution to the preservation of the freedom of the press and the people's right to know." He said he could do this without permission of the board of regents or anyone else although he "took it up with the dean" and presumed that the dean "took it up with the president." In actual fact, the board of regents did approve and the president, Richard A. Harvill was photographed presenting the "award" to Hoyt.

In support of his decision Martin submitted a list of endorsements by publishers, politicians and miscellaneous including: Adlai Stevenson, Quigg Newton, the mayor of Denver, Helen Rogers Reid, of the New York Herald Tribune; Elmer Davis, late of the OWI; Bishop Sheil; Arthur Hays Sulzberger, of the New York Times; Chief Justice Earl Warren; Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press, who was sick and off watch at the time, and Alan J. Gould, executive editor of the Associated Press.

Martin listed his own name among those who lauded his own choice of Hoyt.

William R. Mathews, editor of the Arizona Star, the Tucson morning paper, a member of the Pulitzer board and also of the board of regents, expressed approval. Although Martin later insisted that his choice was not political, Mathews pulled the rug from under the professor with an editorial praising Hoyt for exposing "the methods of Senator McCarthy." These "methods," he wrote, consisted of "making irresponsible charges about the civilian scientists and helpers at Fort Monmouth, yet failing to find a single one, although not one who was suspected claimed protection of the Fifth Amendment."

Unfortunately for Mathews' purpose, the formal report of the Senate subcommittee, published by the Democrats last April 25 said: "It was established that the Rosenberg spy ring took secrets from the Signal Corps and transferred them to Russia. Rosenberg stole the proximity fuse and handed it over to a Russian agent. A member of the Rosenberg spy ring who had been employed by the Signal Corps was Joel Barr. He has fled the United States and is reported living behind the Iron Curtain. Alfred Sarrant was employed at Monmouth. Sarrant was identified as a member of the Rosenberg spy apparatus. Like Barr, he is reported to be living behind the Iron Curtain."

Morton Sobell is serving 30 years for conspiracy to commit sabotage. The Rosenberg ring could possibly be continuing to this very day. Rosenberg had access to Signal Corps installations, including Fort Monmouth. "Thirty-five Signal Corps employees, Fort Monmouth, were suspended on loyalty and security grounds, eight were discharged after hearings. Three resigned. In addition, the following (a list of 11) were suspended, discharged or resigned. Six additional employees were denied access to classified information. Four of these have filmusical. "The Girl Rush." Egyptology students at San Diego State College who caught a sneak of "Land of the Pharaohs" voted Joan Collins: "The Mummy We'd Most Like to Get Wound Up With."

What's Right? If you are ever tempted to tell a friend an unpleasant fact "for his own good," reflect first upon the advice of Oliver Wendell Holmes who said: "Don't flatter yourself that friendship authorizes you to say disagreeable things to your intimates."

The nearer you come to relation with a person, the more necessary do tact and courtesy become.

Meaningless Marriage May Have Meaning, After All

Ten years ago they sensibly and responsibly decided to hold together their marriage, which had lost its meaning for both of them, for the sake of the children.

Next month the third and last child will be married and gone from home.

The wife asks: "Now do we have the right to start thinking of ourselves? For ten years we have stuck together because we knew it was best for the children. I'm sure not one of them has ever suspected what the real situation is, for we learned to live together, if not happily, at least peacefully on the surface."

"The children have had their home, when they needed it. And now it seems to me we have a right to take what we owe ourselves, freedom from this meaningless marriage. Do you agree?"

Certainly, you have a right to start thinking of yourselves. But are you sure that you'll really be happier apart than you are together?

And how can you be certain that all your feeling for each other is gone for good?

You've depended on each other in many ways for a long time. That mutual dependency may be more important than you think.

Instead of rushing out to buy the freedom which you feel you've earned, with a divorce, why not announce to your children that you are going to take a trip alone? That shouldn't be hard to explain. That harmless separation will give you both a chance to think and to find out just how well you like the freedom you have thought you wanted for ten years.

It may be that it isn't as wonderful as you thought it would be. And if you both find that out in time you will really have put your own best interests first.

So They Say

McCarthy supporters have driven on a wedge of hatred into the community and have made it impossible for me to continue.

Red China does not have the strength to carry out its threat to liberate Formosa.

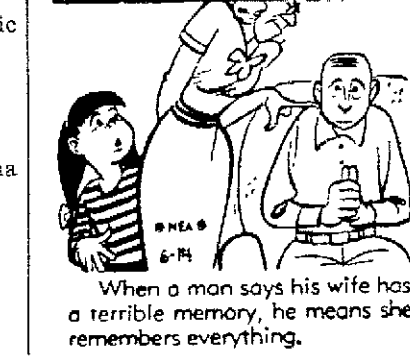

He used to pull my leg because I did not drink his vodka or smoke.

These poor men (Mexicans) went across the border with the illusion of making a million dollars but instead received only beatings, starvation, at the hands of the Texans in charge of concentration camps.

I say that both (political) parties are patriotic. Both parties are for peace.

THIS ONE TOPPED THEM ALL.—When it comes to crazy hats, just leave it to grandma. At least, that's what Charter 115 of the Federated Grandmothers Club of America believes. Mrs. R. H. Lambert of Houston, Tex., wears "Picnicking With My Grandchildren in the Park," which is nobody's surprise won first prize at the Crazy Hat contest in Houston. The contest was sponsored by Charter 115 as a means of raising funds for youth welfare projects it sponsors.

BACK TO HIS REAL PARENTS.—A Franklin county court in Columbus, Ohio, has ruled that nine-month-old Kevin (Gene) Smith, above, be returned to his natural parents. Kevin has been the object of a custody fight between his natural parents, Max and Annis Smith of Van Wert, Ohio, and his foster parents, Darrell and Veneda Brown of Columbus. Mrs. Brown said Mrs. Smith gave her the baby with the understanding the Browns could adopt him after the Smiths were divorced. The Smiths later reconciled. (AP wirephoto)

Justices Refuse Stay For Killer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Supreme Court justices have rejected a plea for a stay of execution for Don Jesse Neal, under death sentence for shooting of a Salt Lake City policeman.

The denials were made Tuesday by Justices Burton, Frankfurter and Reed.

Earlier this month the other six Supreme Court justices likewise individually refused to grant Neal a stay of execution.

Acting as a whole, the Supreme Court on April 4 declined to hear an appeal filed by counsel for Neal. The policeman, Sgt. Owen T. Farley of the Salt Lake City force, was shot to death May 23, 1951, when he arrested Neal on a pickup order from California.

Neal's appeals have been financed in part by the activities of a DePue, Ill., second-grade teacher.

Mrs. Lois A. Hecker, 66, became interested in Neal's case through newspaper stories. Although she never met him, she inserted three ads in a Chicago newspaper calling for funds for his defense.

The ads netted more than $500, she said.

Mosquito War Opens In Kentucky

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A full-scale counterattack will be launched immediately against mosquitoes which have created a "living hell" for workers in four counties.

The first skirmishes—with hand spraying, oiling, ditching and draining as weapons—will take place in this area.

Plans and strategy were outlined Tuesday at a meeting of public health authorities, county officials and local residents. They also agreed a survey should be made in Hopkins, Webster, Muhlenberg and Henderson counties, hardest hit by the pesky salt marsh mosquito.

What apparently makes the insect a greater menace than most is that it is an all-day biter.

Reports at the meeting disclosed that cattle in some sections of Hopkins County suffered so many bites they virtually became useless milk production dropped and beef cattle lost weight.

Workers in coal mines and oil-field operations in Hopkins and Henderson counties were forced to leave their jobs. Some refused to return.

In one section of Henderson County, churches abandoned services because of the invasion.

'Do-It-Yourself' Cult Member Quits

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Paddy Sherman, Vancouver Province reporter, has resigned from the "Do-it-yourself" cult. He was told by an automobile mechanic he needed a new differential in his English car. He bought the parts and installed them himself. But he got them in wrong, he says. Now he has four speeds in reverse and one forward.

Second Top Person Aide Quits Post

Buenos Aires (AP)—A second top aide of Argentine President Juan D. Peron reportedly has decided to step out in the aftermath of the June 16 revolt. He is Angel Gabriel Borlenghi, who as interior minister played a major role in the government's anticommunist campaign.

Reliable sources said Tuesday night that Borlenghi, 49, has decided to retire from public life "because of ill health." The informants said he told visitors Tuesday he would soon make a trip abroad.

The reports of Borlenghi's retirement came a day after Eduardo Vuletich, secretary general of the powerful General Confederation of Labor, was said to have stepped down in favor of his assistant, Hector Hugo de Pietro. Vuletich also was active in the fight against the Roman Catholic Church.

Post office inspectors resumed direct censorship of news dispatches in communication company offices here Tuesday.

Open Inquiry Into Blast On Towboat

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Coast Guard Tuesday opened a hearing on the disastrous explosion aboard the towboat "Donna Lee" last Saturday that took six lives and injured six others.

Conducting the inquiry is a three-man board composed of Comm. William Schweizer of St. Louis, marine inspection officer in the St. Louis district; Comm. John R. Silliman of Cairo, Ill., officer in charge of the Cairo area; and Lt. Comm. Thomas F. Dunham of Nashville, acting officer in charge of the Nashville area.

The "Donna Lee," a 135-ton towboat owned and operated by the A. L. Maching Barge Lines of Joliet, Ill., with a crew of 13, exploded and burned after the rupture of an eight-inch hose through ing pumped from barges into storage tanks at the Texas Co. waterfront terminal.

The hose break spilled thousands of gallons of gasoline into the river and fumes were ignited as the towboat's captain tried to move his vessel out of the danger area.

One crewman died in the fire aboard the "Donna Lee," while two women cooks died in hospitals Saturday night and the bodies of three crewmen were taken from the river. Six others are still hospitalized, but one crewman escaped unhurt.

Testimony offered at today's hearing indicated a galley stove aboard the ill-fated towboat may have touched off the explosion and flames.

Richard Aye, a crew member of East St. Louis, Ill., who suffered minor injuries, told the board that he rushed to the ship's galley after smelling gasoline fumes and cut off the valve of a stove the two cooks were using.

Portion of Loot, Note, Discovered

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—When A. B. Collins, owner of a food market here, went to work at his store Tuesday he discovered a stolen money bag containing $15.95 and a note at the front door. The bag, containing $25, had been taken Sunday night.

The note said the bag contained $17.23—a discrepancy no one could figure out—and promised to return the remainder later.

"We are sorry," it added. The note was signed "A. L. and C."

PLYMOUTH DESIGNS WITH YOU IN MIND!

to put extra value in the low Plymouth price!

This message is for people who think all low-price cars are "pretty much alike." Of course, all cars have horns and wheels and headlights, but there's a lot of difference in the features of a car that add up to value. Here are just a few of Plymouth's features that will add to your comfort and your convenience. In the low-price 3, you'll find them only in Plymouth. Drive a new Plymouth today; see how much more its "personalized design" gives you! The Powerflite Range Selector is mounted on the dash, near the ignition key—the logical place for easiest use. You can change speed by touch alone!	Cornerposts of Plymouth's glamorous new Full-View windshield are swept back, top and bottom (not bottom only), for better, safer vision.	Plymouth's Oilite fuel filter is located back in the fuel tank (not on the engine) to protect the entire fuel system and engine from dirt and water.
For more direct pillowing action, Plymouth mounts the longer-stroke front Oriflow shock absorbers inside the big front coil springs.	Plymouth places two hydraulic brake cylinders in each front wheel (other low-price cars use only one) for smoother stops, greater reliability.

17 FEET LONG

PLYMOUTH OTHER CARS

If you ever have a blowout, your Plymouth has Safety-Rim wheels which help hold a deflated tire on the rim while you slow to a safe stop.

Plymouth's brilliant Forward Look styling gives you better forward visibility by letting you see more of the road directly ahead of the car.

Plymouth is the BIGGEST, LONGEST, ROOMIEST car of the low-price 3. In fact, you can pay as much as $500 more for a medium-price car that's smaller than Plymouth!

Heibenthals Are Party Honorees For Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Heibenthal, Ashton, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Friday by entertaining 30 guests with a 6:30 o'clock dinner at Maxson's Manor, Oregon.

The table was centered by a bouquet of red and white carnations while nut cups, place cards and napkins all carried out the color of red, symbolic of the ruby anniversary. A lovely vase of red roses, the gift of the Evangelical WSW and Love and Unity Sunday School class, of which Mrs. Heibenthal is a member, had a prominent place on the mantel near the serving table.

The wedding cake was decorated with red roses and cut by the bride of 40 years ago. A tape recording had been made of Mendelsohn's wedding march, also an article regarding the wedding of the Heibenthals, which appeared in the Ashton Gazette 40 years ago, and a poem, "Our Wedding Anniversary," Rev. R. W. Tenney, minister of the Ashton Evangelical U. B. church, gave a short talk and both Mr. and Mrs. Heibenthal responded. The program had been planned by Mrs. E. J. Yenerich, Ashton, and Miss Minet Wagner, Dixon.

Following dinner, the guests were invited into the parlor of the Manor, where they were entertained with movies of Florida, and some of the West.

The Heibenthals received many gifts and also several congratulatory cards from relatives and friends.

Joanne Corbett Mt. Morris Bride Of William Clark

MT. MORRIS—Saturday, June 11, Miss Joanne Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Corbett, Mt. Morris, and William Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clark, Mt. Morris, were wed at the Church of the Brethren, Rev. Dean Frantz read the nuptial vows.

Marvin Sherman, soloist, and Richard Meyers, organist, furnished the nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, Joanne wore a floor length gown of white satin and embroidered nylon tulle, designed with a round neckline, accented by tiny pearls. The long sleeves were of embroidered tulle and a bouffant skirt of tulle fell from a tight fitting waistline.

A satin cloche held the bride's finger tip veil of embroidered tulle, finished with a border of tiny pearls. She carried a lace handkerchief, with dainty pearl embroidery in one corner, a gift from the bridegroom's mother. On her white Bible lay a white orchid and stephanotis.

Bride's Attendants In a ballerina dress of yellow crystal over yellow tulle, Carol Corbett attended her sister as maid of honor. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow and white daisies with a yellow frill.

Norma Corbett and Myrtle Lundin, bridesmaids, were gowned alike in ballerina frocks of pink and white daisies with pink frill. They wore matching caps and white gloves. Pearl necklaces and earrings were a gift from the bride.

Sara Clark, sister of the bridegroom, wore a sheer blue nylon ballerina frock for her role as candlelighter. Stanley Corbett also served as a candle lighter.

T/Sgt. James Clark, Richmond, Va., served his brother as best man. Ushers included Don Hagermann, Glenn Burger, Al Valentine and Dave Smith, fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

The reception, in the church basement, followed the ceremony. The Misses Louise Middlekauff and Mildred Rathmeyer, Forrester, cut the cake; Miss Carol Meinhold poured and Mrs. Curtis Miller served the punch.

Miss Gayle Dickson had charge of the guest book and Miss Marjorie Phelps arranged the gifts. As the newlyweds left for a five

Board of Managers for Dixon Council of Church Women

A meeting of the Board of Managers of the Dixon Council of Church Women was held last Thursday evening in the First Methodist church, with Mrs. Charles F. Johnston, president, in charge of the business session. Rev. Sidney Bloomquist offered prayer and the inspirational thought on Light was given by Mrs. Johnston.

Mrs. Roy Finney gave the recording secretary's report and Mrs. Donald McWethy, the treasurer's report. It was announced that affiliation dues for this year, from various churches, should be paid to the treasurer before Sept. 15.

Mrs. Charles Wallace was appointed magazine chairman to take subscriptions to "The Church Woman." Each key woman was asked to handle this matter in her own church and then report to Mrs. Wallace. Miss Alice Sheller was asked to serve the group as historian.

Name Committees-

The following committees were appointed for three special days during the coming year: World Community Day, Nov. 4—Mrs. C. C. Clausen, chairman; Mesdames Winston McReynolds, R. F. Krahler, C. A. Wagner and E. E. Schaefer, advisory member.

World Day of Prayer, Feb. 24, 1956—Mrs. Roscoe Cox, chairman; Mesdames J. R. McDoniel, Lona Reilly, Lowell Whitebread and F. G. Eno.

May Fellowship Day, May 4, 1956—Mesdames Donald Barnhart, William Kentner, Ralph Musser, Lloyd Shippert and William Livingston.

Additional copies of the constitution for the council were given to the key women to be distributed to the women's organizations of each church.

A skit on the work of the United Council of Church Women was read by Mrs. Bloomquist, Mrs. Eno

Two Commissioners See Need for Half-Cent Tax

Potts, Gearhart Disagree With Mayor on Levy Need

Two of the four Dixon commissioners said today that they wanted to go on record as favoring the levy of the optional half-cent sales tax and a third said that he also "leans in favor of it."

Orval Gearhart, Jr., commissioner of streets, and Paul Potts, commissioner of public health and safety, both came out in favor of the law.

Ligouri Welch, commissioner of public property, said that he would be more for it than against it because "the merchants are going to charge the additional half cent anyhow."

C. Lyle Ballard, commissioner of finance, said that he was not in favor of the additional tax. He said he didn't think the city needed it at the present time and said he would rather wait until the need arises before the tax should be tapped.

Mayor William Slothower said Saturday that he believed the city would be able to complete its current fiscal year without the additional levy. He said that he would rather levy the five per cent tax on public utilities which was passed into law Tuesday.

Gov. William Stratton signed the optional tax bill along with the bill that hikes the state sales tax to two and one-half cents on the dollar. The latter bill is effective July 1.

The optional sales tax law empowers the individual city councils to increase corporate revenue by collecting a half-cent on every dollar spent in the city — without a referendum vote of the people.

According to the state sales tax figures for the 1953-54 fiscal year, Dixon's sales tax totaled $455,662.17 on the two per cent sales tax ratio.

In the case of Dixon, an additional half-cent sales tax levy would bring in an additional $100,000 annually for corporate purposes.

Potts and Gearhart said they believed that there are several places in which the money could be put to good use. They mentioned such things as street improvements, remodeling, etc.

Welch said he thought the tax would be a "fair" tax and that the increased revenue might enable the city to cut taxes somewhere else.

Ballard agreed with Slothower that the tax would have a strong psychological influence on shoppers both inside and outside the city.

The next two and one-half cent sales tax rate, which goes into effect Friday, is: one cent from 14 to 49 cents; two cents from 50 to 89 cents; three cents from 90 to $1.39; and four cents from $1.40 to $1.79.

Korean Bonus Measure Goes to Gov. Stratton

Some Doubt He Will Approve Referendum

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A 150-million-dollar plan for bonuses to Illinois veterans of the Korean War was dumped today into the lap of Gov. Stratton.

If he signs it, the proposition of authorizing a state bond issue to pay the awards will go on the 1955 general election ballot for a statewide referendum. There appeared some doubt that he would.

Senate approval of the bonus legislation sponsored by Rep. Clyde Choate (D-Anna) and about 80 other House members climaxed a busy Tuesday in the General Assembly also marked by:

House endorsement of Senate-approved bills for a utility tax for cities, requiring a loyalty oath of state employees and restricting the work week of most downstate firemen to 56 hours.

Rapped by Governor
House defeat of a proposed highway speed limit of 65 miles an hour in daytime and 55 at night. This was called by Stratton "calculated disregard for highway safety."

Senate passage of House legislation to pave the way for construction of a 34-million-dollar convention hall on Chicago's lakefront, a proposal which stirred up a prolonged filibuster in the House.

The House plan for Korean bonuses huddled the Senate by a vote of 34 to 2.

It would provide for payments to an estimated 240,000 Illinois veterans of $15 for each month of overseas service and $10 a month for domestic service between June 26, 1950 and July 26, 1953.

The maximum award would be $555 and the minimum $50. Survivors of an estimated 2,500 Illinoisans who lost their lives would be entitled to $900.

The proposed bond issue would be retired over 20 years by taxes on harness racing and liquor.

Called It Premature
Gov. Stratton a couple of weeks ago told Republican legislative leaders a bonus was premature and suggested creation of a legislative commission to give the question detailed consideration, reporting in 1957.

Sen. Dennis J. Collins (R-Du-Quoin), a member of the commission which worked out the World War II bonus program, opposed the Choate bill saying it would "put the governor in a bad position."

Supporting it, Sen. Daniel Rostenkowski (D-Chicago) who served 18 months in Korea declared "dog-faces who fought the Korean War" deserve a bonus as much as veterans who got them after the two world wars.

Tight Squeeze
The utility tax legislation, part of the Stratton-Daley revenue program, squeaked through the House on a 79 to 66 roll call, mustering only two more than the required number of votes.

It permits cities by council action to levy up to 5 per cent on gross receipts of utilities furnishing electric, gas, water, telephone and telegraph services.

Rep. Albert Hachmeister (R-Chicago) assailed the legislation as "a scheme to pick the pockets of the poor" and Rep. Franklin J. Stransky (R-Savanna) as an abandonment of home rule, but Rep. Richard Stengel (D-Rock Island) defended it as a "fairer" tax than a local levy on sales.

McDonald said genuine collective bargaining "with the real people in authority" is the only way a settlement can be made.

"If Mr. Hood were participating in the negotiations instead of spending his time going over publicly releases in his headquarters, he would know that the steelworkers union is doing everything within its power to avert a nationwide steel strike."

"We call upon Mr. Hood and other leaders of the industry to join us in the practical task of hammering out an agreement that will be just and fair to the industry and to the public."

McDonald said genuine collective bargaining "with the real people in authority" is the only way a settlement can be made.

Air Incident Not Deliberate--Ike Chides Democrats for Blocking His Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he was sure the Russians' shooting down of a U. S. navy plane was a local occurrence and not a matter of policy.

The president's statement was made at a news conference at which he also chided the Democratic controlled congress for leaving undone, as he put it, a long list of his legislative proposals—some of them, he declared, vital to the nation.

In discussing the plane incident, Eisenhower went somewhat further than did Secretary of State Dulles who had said Tuesday that he believed no deliberate Soviet policy was involved.

Eisenhower said it is very encouraging to note the attitude taken by the Soviet government which has expressed regret for the incident and offered to pay half the damage.

Reply to Johnson
The president's remarks about the way the Democrats in congress have treated his legislative program were, in effect, a reply to Democratic Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson, who, cited congress' record Tuesday as disproving the president's 1954 campaign declaration that election of a Democratic congress could lead to a political cold war.

Eisenhower reeled off a list of legislative proposals on which he said the Democratic controlled congress has failed to act.

Also on the domestic front: Second term—Eisenhower said with a laugh he was only kidding when he dropped some apparent hints during his New England trip that he might be thinking about running for a second term.

Dixon-Yates — Eisenhower said the administration has turned over to congress every pertinent paper on the controversial power project but that he flatly refuses to let investigators look at the administration's files with all their confidential data on individuals.

Budget Director Rowland Hughes refused Tuesday to let senate investigators inspect unpublished documents relating to the Dixon-Yates contract. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) in a senate speech accused the president of seemingly trying to cover up "a shocking piece of duplicity" in negotiation of the contract.

Security—Eisenhower said he has no objection to the proposal in congress for bipartisan commission to investigate the government's loyalty-security program.

The president's meeting with newsmen was dominated by questions about next month's Big Four summit meeting.

A "Puzzle"
Asked if he feels Soviet Premier Bulganin really is the head of his government, or if Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and others ought to attend the conference, Eisenhower said that is a puzzle; that no one really knows who is the dominating influence in the Soviet government.

The president said there does seem to have been a definite change in the Soviet government's attitude of late, and that it may be possible to set up at Geneva new channels for easing world tensions.

WAS City Clerk

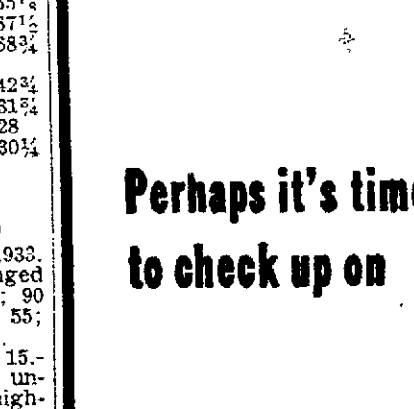

Prior to running for the mayors' ship, Mrs. Histed had been city clerk of New Boston for four years. She explained that she had a "particular reason" for running for mayor.

She added, "Besides, I wanted to be the first woman mayor in the state!"

New Boston is run by the aldermanic form of government. Two aldermen and Mrs. Histed make up its city council.

Her honor is in Dixon visiting her son, Troy Histed, 916 Logan Ave., and the Ballards.

Gets Life For Stabbing Prison Aide

LAKE BUTLER, Fla. (AP)—George A. Heroux Jr., 25, has been sentenced to life in Florida State Prison, where he killed the assistant superintendent in an attempted break.

A 12-man jury convicted him of first-degree murder Tuesday but recommended mercy. The state had sought his death for the killing of J. C. Godwin, 56, last April.

Heroux, under 50 years sentence for two Kansas bank robberies and for kidnaping two Miami policemen, had been placed in solitary confinement by Godwin two weeks earlier.

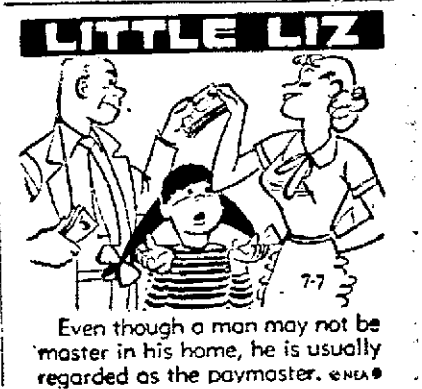

Heroux's gun, a .25-caliber pistol, had been smuggled in to him by his former wife Ruth and her husband Raymond Staffa. They are awaiting sentence upon their pleas of guilty to aiding and abetting an attempted escape.

Governor Signs Remap Law; Discover A Flaw

Calls It Most Important Legislation in Our Time

By ROGER LANE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A new pattern of apportionment in the Illinois General Assembly giving Chicago and Cook County control of the House was signed into law Tuesday by Gov. Stratton.

Stratton signed the historic bill which changed legislative districts the first time in a half century despite discovery of a technical flaw.

He was advised by Atty. Gen. Latham Castle that the defect is not serious and should not jeopardize the act's validity.

Just before taking up his pen, the governor told assembled legislative leaders "this unquestionably is one of the basically most important pieces of legislation enacted in this state in our time."

Effective In 1956

The reapportionment, taking effect in the 1956 primary, carves out 58 Senate and 59 separate new representatives districts to replace the 51 existing districts each electing a senator and three House members.

It was wrought by the Assembly after a long, sometimes tense and bitter struggle in which sitting lawmakers strove to preserve the territorial basis for their political power.

Because of the mandate of a 1954 constitutional amendment setting up new apportionment requirements, some of them were destined to failure.

The flaw in the bill affects the 1st Senatorial and 3rd Representative districts in Cook County. The bill contained a reference to the Township of Cicero instead of the technically correct designation of Town of Chicago.

Not Serious
Castle said the boundaries of the town are the same as the former township, abolished in 1867.

"This defect appears not be serious," Castle said in a formal opinion. He added that in the light of court rulings on similar questions there was "little doubt" that "Township" would be construed to mean "town."

In the 1947 congressional reapportionment there was a reference to the Village of Stickney where the Legislature meant the Township of Stickney. The Supreme Court, taking notice of the legislative intent, upheld the law.

House and Senate leaders who steered the remapping bill through the Assembly witnessed signing of the bill. Television cameras recorded the event in the reception chamber of the governor's office.

The 1954 constitutional change provided that unless the apportionment was completed by Thursday midnight the job of remapping would be turned over to a special commission, something nine of the assemblymen wanted.

Senate Kills Sparkler Bill

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A bill which would have banned most types of sparklers was killed Tuesday in the Illinois Senate.

The action came on a voice vote on motion of Sen. William Connors (D-Chicago) after he had failed to amend the bill to include all sparklers.

As passed by the House, the measure would have prohibited the sale of sparklers with the exception of one type, not containing magnesium, which is manufactured by a Bloomington firm.

'Repeater' Found Buried in Dump

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Being buried alive was all in a night's sleep for Bill Tinsley, a 55-year-old "repeater" in City Police Court.

At least, that's what the Charleston resident told police Tuesday when he was pulled from beneath a dump heap on the bank of Elk River.

A bulldozer operator could hardly believe his eyes when he saw a pair of feet protruding from a pile of dirt and debris shoved to one side. His call brought two patrolmen, who began digging frantically in the dirt.

Tinsley was found near the bottom, loudly protesting the sudden interruption in his sleep. He will be arraigned today on a drunk charge.

German Army Plan Delayed

No Civilian Control, Parliament Claims

BONN, West Germany (AP)—A new delay in putting the first West Germans into uniform was seen today as the lower house of Parliament sent a bill to call up the first volunteers to committees for rewriting.

Although still approving rearmament in principle, many of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's own supporters complained that the measure contained no guarantees of civilian control over the military and could lead to a resurgence of German militarism.

The sharp blow to Adenauer's plans came Tuesday night after a heated debate in the Bundestag (lower house). Government sources said new proposals would be readied but there was considerable doubt that the legislators could prepare and pass another bill before the start of their scheduled summer recess July 18.

The Chancellor had wanted the enlistment of volunteers under way quickly to give the free world and the Russians additional evidence before the start of the Big Four summit talks next month that West Germany is determined to rebuild its armed strength.

Adenauer's request for temporary power to recruit a nucleus of volunteers pending passage of permanent army legislation came under sharp attack from representatives of all parties, including his own Christian Democrats.

Slugs Wrong Man In Wrong House

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—Sim Edmons, about 50, climbed out of bed Tuesday night to answer a knock at the door and was promptly slugged on the head with a rock.

The assailant then took a closer look at Edmons and the house and offered an immediate apology.

"I not only got the wrong man, I even got the wrong house," he said.

He offered to take his victim to the hospital but Edmons declined. He returned to bed, refusing to identify the man or obtain a warrant against him.

Nation Assured On Air Strength

Best Bomber in B-54, Says Defense Chiefs

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says it has in the B52 the best bomber "in the world today," has fighters ready to move anywhere on the globe and is making advances in developing continent-to-continent missiles.

The outline of air strength was contained in the Defense Department semiannual report released Tuesday. It appeared coincidentally with a demand from a Democratic senator to Secretary of Defense Wilson to answer a dozen questions dealing with the quality and quantity of Russian planes and missiles.

The brief air section of the report, covering a six-month period ending last Dec. 31, was written by Secretary Harold Talbott. He said the program to build to a 137-wing Air Force (from a present strength of 121 wings) has not been changed, although "it must constantly be reevaluated in the light of growing Communist capabilities."

"Great Reassurance"

Talbott said the appearance soon of the Boeing eight-jet B52 in the air fleet "should be of great reassurance to our people."

He said the North American supersonic-speed jet fighter F100 "is already here and the first squadron has been activated and equipped." The research and development, he said, "is turning out newer and better fighters and missiles at a steady rate."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), chairman of a military applications subcommittee of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, made public a lengthy letter to Wilson, saying he feared Russia "will be our unquestionable superiors in air power" within a few years.

At the Pentagon, a spokesman said Jackson's letter had been received and referred to various officials for preparation of a reply. Jackson expressed special concern over Soviet progress in developing an intercontinental ballistic missile, saying that a "Soviet victory in this race for discovery could turn the balance of world military power upside down."

If the Russians attain first a ballistic missile of mere continental range—1,500 to 2,000 miles—all of Europe would be "at the mercy of Moscow," Jackson contended.

"Shown Advances"

In the semiannual report—which apparently was prepared before a controversy over U.S.-Russian air power erupted a month ago—Talbott said:

"This year (calendar 1954) has shown advances in the development of the intercontinental ballistic missile."

She Calls Her Boy Friend and Firemen Arrive

LINTON, England (AP)—Nurse Norah Lyne, 18 years old and only six months out of a convent school, wanted to date a handsome fireman she met at a dance.

She picked up the phone Tuesday and told the operator: "Give me the fire brigade."

"Where are you speaking from?" the operator asked.

"Linton Hospital," the pretty nurse said.

Within a minute four fire trucks, two radio control cars, 50 firemen and half a dozen top officials were rushing to the hospital.

All they found was Norah—still holding the line and hoping to speak to her boy friend.

Said a fire officer: "We gave her a little lecture on how to use the phone—but you can't be too harsh with a girl like that."

In tribute to one of America's greatest days we have arranged a great day of fun, frolic, entertainment and display. A program to fit both young and old, designed to entertain you and your friends.

Blind Girl Has Serious Mishap

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (P)—Res-sie Elizabeth Patrick, totally blind since she was 9, suffered the third major accident of her young life Tuesday.

Res-
sie, who lives in Sheridan, was in serious condition in a Huntington hospital after the front wheel of a bicycle she was on collapsed and a handle bar was driven into her abdomen.

A friend, Janice Cremons, 15,
also of Sheridan, was giving Res-sie a ride on the bicycle. Janice was treated at the hospital and released.

Res-
sie was born with normal vision. She lost the sight of one eye when she was small, falling on a pair of scissors. She lost the sight of her other eye at the age of 9
when she ran into a clothes line.

Caesar, and the Duke of Wellington never were defeated in battle.

Forecast 380 Auto Deaths Over Holiday

CHICAGO (P)—A July 4 weekend
automobile traffic death toll of 380 was forecast today by the National Safety Council.

The estimate covers the period
from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday and takes into account only immediate deaths and not those occurring later from injuries suffered over the weekend.

More than 40 million cars will be on the move over the holiday.

The council gave these safety
suggestions:

Drive about 10 m.p.h. slower than normally to give time to react in an emergency.

Start your outing in plenty of time so there'll be no need to hurry.

Don't compete for the right of way.

Pass cars singly and be sure you have a clear margin of safety.

Slow down at sundown and avoid driving when sleepy or overtired.

Democrats Sink Ike's Atom Ship

WASHINGTON (P)—Senate Democrats sank President Eisenhower's atomic peace ship project by one vote Tuesday after all Republican senators voting rallied to the chief executive.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said today in an interview the 42-41 vote meant the plan was dead. He said
"there will be prompt development" of an economically feasible
atomic engine for large ships.

Republicans had tried to put into an atomic energy construction bill 21 million dollars to build an atomic reactor for the demonstration vessel proposed by Eisenhower.

The President had urged his congressional leaders to fight for his proposal, and they put up a stout argument for it.

All votes against the ship were cast by Democrats. A lone Democrat, Sen. Thurmond of South Carolina, voted with the Republicans.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) rushed into the chamber at the last minute
with the deciding "no" vote.

The 41st Republican, Sen. Mc-Carthy of Wisconsin, was present;
but declined to support the proposal. At first he voted with the Democrats, but later withdrew this to pair with the absent Sen. H.

Alexander Smith (R-N.J.). A pair
has the effect of canceling out opposing votes.

The bill authorizes $269,159,000
for atomic projects throughout the nation. Senate approval sent it back to the House for consideration of a minor Senate amendment.

When the House passed the atomic bill Monday, Republican leaders there made no fight for the ship. The funds had been stricken out in committee.

Eisenhower disclosed his atomic ship plan at an Associated Press luncheon in New York April 25. He said the vessel could tour the world ports without refueling and could be fitted with exhibits to show this nation's progress in peacetime atomic energy.

Bing, Son Come to Aid Of Hospital

MCARTHUR, Calif. (P)—Bing
Crosby and son Gary, on a fishing trip, learned this little town had no hospital — and was having trouble raising funds to build one.
Monday the Crosbys returned.
They brought band leader Phil
Harris, comedian Jerry Lester, dancer Donald O'Connor, Red Nichols and his band, singer Peggy Connelly and others to give a benefit show.

More than 5,000 persons — 10
times McArthur's population—paid $20,000 for tickets.

That, plus funds already acquired, assured a start soon on a $65,000 hospital building.

SAFE BURGLARY
RICHMOND, Va. (P)—Burglars
lugged a 300-pound drug store safe into a car and took it to a secluded spot in the woods. There they found it was empty. They found, also, it hadn't been locked in the first place.

U. S. Superspy System Gets Verbal Going-Over Hoover Commission Body Finds It Isn't Adequate

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (P)—Allen W.
Dulles, boss of the most hush-hush
American spy agency against the Russians, has just been ripped in prose so velvetly you have to look twice to see the wounds.

Dulles, brother of Secretary of State Dulles, is director of the Central Intelligence Agency. The prose was in a report by a six-man Hoover Commission task force, headed by retired Gen. Mark Clark, which investigated the U.S. intelligence setup.

While the FBI works against foreign spies in this country, CIA was set up in 1947 as this country's superspy outfit overseas, and particularly to find out what the Communists are doing behind the Iron Curtain.

Clearing House

Further, CIA is supposed to pull together all the intelligence information obtained by more than 20 government departments and agencies, evaluate it and see that the right government officials are told what they need to know.

Clark and his group said they are "deeply concerned over the lack of adequate intelligence from behind the Iron Curtain." Had it chosen to use blunt language, the Clark group might have said: "Our spy system isn't good enough."

The report gave Dulles credit for trying hard: "We found the director of the CIA to be industrious, objective, enthusiastic and imaginative."

That's not the same as saying he's doing a good job. The report says he tries to do too much himself and, by getting tangled up in day-by-day details, doesn't have enough time for a broad view of intelligence work.

Praises Hoover

There was a sharp contrast between the way the report said Dulles handles the CIA and the way J. Edgar Hoover runs the FBI. The report said of Hoover:

"We found the director of the FBI, through his forcefulness, initiative and managerial ability, to have developed his agency into a model organization of its kind."

The report suggested two things
to make Dulles' agency run better:
(1) he should get himself a top assistant to take some of the everyday details off his hands and (2)
the CIA needs an overhauling from the inside.

The Clark group also took a swipe at Secretary Dulles' State Department, which has the responsibility for collecting foreign publications and scientific intelligence.

"Too Conservative"

That job, the Clark group said, should be turned over entirely to
CIA. And it complained that some

Silence Sirens
On Ambulance

CHICAGO (P)—The Chicago Fire Department has silenced the sirens on its ambulances, although they will still have bells and flashing red lights. The reason: Too many traffic accidents. "I hope our drivers will not take as many risks
in the future," Fire Commissioner
Anthony J. Mullane commented
Tuesday.

people in the State Department are "too conservative" about intelligence work in foreign countries.
That attitude, the Clark group said,
has worked "often to the detriment of vigorous and timely action in the field."

After getting a look at the whole picture, the report recommended creation of two "watchdog" commissions—one made up of members of Congress and the other of private citizens—to keep a steady
check on what's being done.

Says Demos Aboard Ike's Bandwagon

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Ives (R-NY) accused Democrats today of "trying to climb on the Eisenhower bandwagon" with claims that they are supporting the President's programs in Congress.

Ives said in an interview he regards a statement Tuesday by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) as indicating the Democrats have concluded Eisenhower will be re-elected next year and have decided to concentrate on efforts to retain their control of Congress.

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, said in a statement the Senate's record in this session dis-proves Eisenhower's contention
during the campaign last October that Democratic control of Congress would result in "a cold war of partisan politics."

After the Democrats did win control, Eisenhower told a news conference the words he used were too strong for what he had in mind.

Ives said a list of 45 bills Johnson said represent the character of the current legislative program showed the Democrats are "facing in two directions."

He noted that Johnson, shortly after issuing his statement, rallied Democratic forces to defeat a GOP attempt to authorize the atomic peace ship Eisenhower has proposed.

"The Democrats are criticizing the President on one hand and claiming to support him on the other," Ives said. "They realize they can't attack him or his program successfully and they are trying to claim credit for as much as they can get away with."

"What they are doing is trying to climb on the Eisenhower bandwagon. I don't think they believe they have any chance to beat him in 1956 and all that is left for them is to try to retain control of Congress."

Rancher Slays Family, Then Ends Own Life

CORA, Wyo. (P)—A prosperous rancher went berserk and shot and killed his wife, daughter and parents-in-law four days before their bodies were found at their home north of here. Sublette County officers said today.

Coroner Francis Tanner, summoned by a forest ranger who made the grim discovery, termed the slayings "murder-suicide—it couldn't have been anything else."

The victims, their bodies pierced by bullets from a heavy 30.06 rifle, were Lawrence (Jack) Alexander, 45; his wife, Patricia, 40; their daughter, Grace, 6; and Mrs. Alexander's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F.
X. O'Brien, of Miami, Fla., visiting here.

Sheriff Morris Horton was unable to offer any motive for the tragedy. He said the Alexanders had been married about 15 years.

AIR SERVICE
CHATSWORTH, Ga. (P)—Service station operator Walter Bayne says
the unidentified pilot of a light plane landed on the highway near his place, taxied up to buy a tank-full of gas, a soft drink and a package of chewing gum and then took off.

U. I. Psychological Clinic

Has a Threefold Function

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN - (Special) - A kindergarten pupil who bullies his playmates... a nine-year-old failing his school subjects... an attractive young woman whose marriage is failing.

These are a few of the 553 cases handled since Sept. 1, 1951, by the University of Illinois psychological clinic in one of the largest clinical training programs of its kind in the country.

During the past school year, 33 University students received training at the clinic, which has a threefold function—service, student training and research. Fifty case conferences were held and 2,029 hours spent with clients, who came from a 150-mile radius of Urbana-Champaign.

Typical of the 553 cases is that of 9-year-old Johnny, who was referred to the clinic by his family physician. Johnny is not an actual person, since clinic records are confidential, but this is an example of the type of case the clinic handles. Johnny's parents said he was doing poorly in school, refused to behave, and was hostile toward his sister.

The clinic saw a lot of Johnny the next six months, but it found that much of the solution to his problem lay with his parents. The father, a World War II veteran who had been hospitalized with combat fatigue, had never been emotionally close to his son; the mother resented Johnny, who had been conceived before marriage.

Before the six months was over, clinic psychologists had held conferences with Johnny's parents, talked to Johnny and won his confidence, given him personality tests and tests of mental ability, watched him at play in "diagnostic play sessions," and then spent hours in "play therapy" with him.

When they had finished, Johnny had a much healthier and happier attitude toward life, his school work had improved immensely, and—most important, his parents made him feel wanted at home. "My Daddy is my pal now," he said as he left the clinic for the last time.

Although the clinic has six psychologists, a social worker and a psychiatrist on its staff, its facilities are utilized to capacity and usually there is a waiting list of cases.

From Sept. 1, 1953, through Aug. 31, 1954, the clinic handled 502 cases and its personnel spent 2,892 hours working with clients. The breakdown by age groups for the 502 cases was: Under five years, 163; six to 12 years, 189; 13 to 15 years, 70, and 19 and over, 140. Cases were referred from the following sources: Schools, 48; physicians, 120; U. of I. Division of Services for Crippled Children, 63; probation officers, 18; social agencies, 91, and self, family, or friends, 159.
